Clark Admits Taking $9,800, Pleads Guilty

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Charles Raymond Clark, 30, of Bossier City, La., pleaded guilty Tuesday to charges of embezzling $9,800 from the First National Bank of Hope.

He was listed on six counts alleging that he took the money between April 2, 1963, and last Sept. 14.

Federal Judge John E. Miller passed disposition of the case pending a report from a probation officer.

Says Someone Should Probe Conway Co.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Republican Winthrop Rockefeller said Tuesday that "sooner or later it seems to me that somebody ought to be interested in seeing the evidence" about Conway County.

That was his reply to a statement by Circuit Judge Wiley Bean, who said at Morrilton that Rockefeller has been financing a crusade by former newspaper editor Gene Wirges.

"We are actually living in a state of anarchy," Bean said in reference to Wirges' crusade.

"A few people have taken the law into their own hands."

"I don't see how you can get anarchy out of that," Rockefeller said. "I believe Mr. Wirges has been persistent and I believe he will continue to be as persistent as he has been in the past."

Wirges has waged a long battle against what he called machine politics in Conway County.

He was indicted earlier this month for slander in connection with remarks he made about Sheriff Martin Hawkins. He lost his newspaper after two libel judgments last year.

Attorneys for Wirges filed a motion in Bean's court to have the slander indictment quashed.

The indictment came after the grand jury was called by Bean to investigate allegations by Wirges of irregularities in the conduct of the sheriff's office. The jury cleared Hawkins.

New Railway Strike Is Threatened

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's fourth major threat of a railroad strike in six months hung in the balance today while negotiators considered a three-year pay raise of 27 cents an hour recommended by a presidential emergency board.

Preliminary reaction to the recommendations indicated that negotiators representing 90 percent of the U.S. railroad industry and 11 nonoperating unions seemed inclined to accept them. More than 400,000 workers are affected.

There was no immediate formal comment from either side. They have 30 days to accept the recommendations, or launch another nationwide strike scare.

President Johnson, in creating the board Aug. 18, warned the dispute "threatens substantially" to disrupt the nation's transportation system.

The board, with many acid comments about the "cumbersome" state of railroad labor negotiations, also recommended fringe benefits and measures to protect jobs in an industry that has seen drastic employment cuts in recent years.

The report of the board, headed by former Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth, was released by the White House shortly after being handed to Johnson Tuesday.

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Claude Carl Fiveash, 63, of Little Rock, drowned Tuesday in Lake Conway when the boat from which he was fishing capsized.

When They Near Teenage Nothing in the Family Life Seems to Fit Any More

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — As the father of a child approaching her teens, I have nothing but sympathy or the parent of a teenager.

I have a daughter named Tracy Ann, who is 11 years and a little more old. But all she wants to be is a teenager.

Everything in our life used to fit her. Now nothing quite does. The dresses we used to get from older girls that suited her before, no longer quite suit her. She is growing into a pattern of herself that must be original. Every week her shoe size seems to change.

"Being 11 years old is a hard time," she said not too long ago. "Up to 10 you are a baby — or at least everybody treats you that way."

"But at 11 you aren't a baby still, and yet you aren't quite a teenager. You are just nothing getting older. There is nothing worse than being 11."

There is nothing worse than a human being caught in its own predicament.

And do I do not joke with my daughter too much about her melancholy. To my mind there is very little difference between the paranoia of childhood, middle age and old age.

All I try to do is to rescue my daughter from too much self-pity, a danger which I think most threatens anybody at any age.

"Oh, Tracy! Oh, Tracy!" I remonstrate, and try to let her know that there are deeper ordeals she must face along the way.

Johnson Slates 3 Talks, Will Visit Truman

By JACK BELL

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — President Johnson said today the overriding foreign policy issue in the campaign is whether the United States "will use our great power with restraint" in a step-by-step quest for peace.

Returning to the political wars for a day's foray into Ohio, Missouri and Illinois Johnson voiced a blistering indictment of the policies proposed by his rival, GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

Without mentioning Goldwater by name, Johnson said in a statement that his opponent had "placed under attack all of the policies which have brought us close to peace."

Telling several hundred persons at Akron-Canton Airport that "you can be proud of the kind of leadership this country has produced," Johnson expressed confidence that the people will vote Nov. 3 to "continue on the path of strength and restraint which we have followed for the past 20 years."

Johnson said that as he sits in his office "late at night, I am deeply conscious of the immense power this nation commands."

In obvious reference to Goldwater, he added, "this great power cannot be put in the hands of those who might use it impulsively or carelessly."

"The world's hope for peace cannot be left with those who have no faith in the possibility of lasting agreements."

In countering positions taken by Goldwater, Johnson promised that after the election victory he appeared confident of gaining "I will continue to work to find areas of common interest with the Soviet Union."

He said he doesn't know the course of the new Soviet leadership will follow "but if they are willing to seek peace they will find us ready."

The President heads from Akron to East St. Louis, Ill., St. Louis, Mo., and Kansas City where he plans a hospital visit to former President Harry S. Truman.

Johnson told newsmen a few weeks ago he wanted to drop in on Truman one afternoon, but that was before the former president suffered two fractured ribs and cuts in a fall.

The President had planned to go to St. Louis later in the week. The White House said he had revised his schedule to pay respects to former President Herbert Hoover, who died Tuesday in New York. Johnson also

Schools Asked to Retain Essays Until Called for

Hempstead and Nevada County high schools entering student essays in Hope Star's $400 Essay Contests are asked to retain the papers in their school files until the newspaper calls for their submission — which will be toward the end of the school year, probably May 1, 1965.

A group of essays was received from one high school this morning, and was returned unread in this afternoon's mail.

No submissions will be entertained from individual students at any time, and submissions from the various high schools will be asked at a date near the end of the school year.

The Essay Contest was designed to operate within the framework of the public schools, with no submissions or publication in the newspaper until the end of the school year. English teachers in the respective high schools have full authority to eliminate from competition any essay which would fail to earn a passing grade by school standards. And the competition is expected to continue clear through the spring of 1965, with submissions, judging, and declaration of awards, at the very end.

This is a contest designed to bolster the efforts of the high school English teacher — which is why we are offering $200 cash in prizes to high school students in Hempstead county, and the same in Nevada.

The Hope Ministerial Alliance met Monday, October 12th at the Community Room of the First National Bank with seven members present.

An Amendment to the Constitution was passed in the meeting to expand the membership of the Alliance to include the pastors of Hempstead County. Heretofore, the Constitution restricted membership to the Hope pastors.

Plans were also made for the annual Thanksgiving Service to be held at the First Baptist Church on Wednesday evening prior to Thanksgiving Day. The New District Superintendent of the Methodist Church, Rev. Otto Teague, has been invited to deliver the sermon. Bill Flanders, Minister of Music of the First Baptist Church, will be in charge of the music.

Sportsmen, Character Are Discussed

Character — building, sportsmanship, and physical development are among the good things that come from football, Bill McClendon, a 10-year Southwest Conference football official, told Hope Kiwanis club yesterday.

"And I don't know of any conference which has high-type boys than the Southwest Conference," Mr. McClendon went on to say.

The speaker related many incidents that occur during a game, but pointed to one tough decision he had to make in a Baylor-Texas game a few years ago.

A fumble occurred near the Baylor bench and a Baylor and Texas player pounced on the ball, but it appeared that Texas recovered and "that is the way I called it" much to an enraged Baylor bench.

"The Baylor player was jerked immediately and queried about the ruling. It made me feel good when I heard the Baylor player tell his coach that the Texas player really had recovered."

At the end of the year, the Baylor player was awarded the Southwest Conference trophy for Sportsmanship.

Mr. McClendon is president of the Arkansas Officials Association and he told of the many visits all over Arkansas explaining to various coaches and groups new rules changes as they occur from year to year.

He then went back to the game and told of various incidents from high to professional ball. The program was arranged by Andy Andrews, and guests included J. A. Davis, Jerry McPherson, Leo Ray and Bob Trapp.

Barry Says Russia to Get Much Tougher

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater swings into Pennsylvania today for his second campaign trip in the Philadelphia area and a meeting with Gov. William W. Scranton.

Scranton, who opposed Goldwater for the presidential nomination at the Republican National Convention, will introduce the Arizonan at a rally tonight in Philadelphia.

Goldwater also has speeches scheduled at West Chester and Upper Darby and plans a motorcade through South Philadelphia.

At 10:30 p.m. EDT he will speak to the nation via the ABC-TV network on recent international developments.

After the networks and the Federal Communications Commission turned down GOP demands for free time to match the time given President Johnson Sunday night, the Republicans bought time on ABC.

Goldwater spoke briefly on foreign policy Tuesday night in an off-the-cuff speech to Republican campaign workers in a Baltimore hotel.

He said that with the ouster of Soviet Premier Khrushchev the United States faces a tougher Communist bloc which is likely to behave more like the belligerent Red Chinese and the late Soviet dictator Josef Stalin.

He demanded the United States take a tougher line in its foreign policy and he attacked the Johnson administration for what he called "the insane policy of strengthening an enemy who has vowed to bury us."

The Soviet Union may have had a hand in developing the nuclear device exploded last week by the Chinese Reds, Goldwater said.

He said he strongly disagreed with President Johnson's interpretation of the Khrushchev overthrow.

"I don't agree that there will

Market in Narrow Gain Early Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market scored a narrow gain in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Fractional gains were the rule for most key stocks but many were unchanged and there was a scattering of fractional losers.

Gains by the averages pushed them further into record high ground. Following Tuesday's rally, upward progress was becoming more difficult.

Spreading impact of the 26-day-old strike against General Motors was reported in a variety of industries as well as the railroads. News that the United Auto Workers GM Council had scheduled a meeting Friday to decide on whether to recommend ratification of a contract came as reassurance.

A slightly higher trend prevailed among autos, steels, electrical equipments, airlines, nonferrous metals, rails and drugs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 332.2 with industrials up .8, rails up .6 and utilities up .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.41 at 882.91.

Both averages were moving above the historic closing highs set Tuesday.

Prices rose in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were irregularly higher. U.S. government bonds were steady in moderately active dealings.

Nation Pays Tribute to Mr. Hoover

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Plain citizens and public figures joined today in paying last respects to former President Herbert Hoover.

Among early arrivals at St. Bartholomew's church were United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, New York Sen. Jacob K. Javits, former Postmaster General James A. Farley and State Department protocol officer Jay Rutherford.

Many who passed by the flag-draped coffin were workers from office buildings in the vicinity of the church in mid-Manhattan.

At 9 a.m. EDT, the doors of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church on Park Avenue swung open and public homage to Hoover begins. His body will lie in state for 48 hours amid the Byzantine-Romanesque grandeur of the 125-year-old edifice, guarded by an honor detail from all the armed forces.

The tribute will be repeated on Friday and Saturday in Washington in the Capitol rotunda where assassinated President John F. Kennedy was honored last November, and where

Relay Team Says Credit Bob Hayes

TOKYO (AP) — "Give all the credit to Bob Hayes," said Gerry Ashworth, the second man on the four-man U.S. 400-meter relay team that broke the world record in the Tokyo Olympics Wednesday with a 39.0 clocking. "He got the stick three yards behind at least," said Paul Stebbins, the third man.

"I got off a good pass to him — well, it was a perfect pass, but it was up to Hayes to do the rest."

And Hayes, the world's fastest human who grabbed the 100-meter earlier in 10.0, tying the world record, said, "I just gave it all I had. I wanted that one. I wanted it bad."

Hayes hurled the baton high in the air as soon as he was safely over the finish line.

Ashworth and Paul Drayton, who ran the opening leg, made a good baton exchange in the final, after nearly missing up the trade in the heats.

Did they practice? "No," Ashworth said. "We just played it by ear. Paul seemed to pull a little coming up to me, and I got a slow start. It was a good thing I did, because it worked out just right."

Drayton said he got a poor start and was a little tired at the end of his leg.

"Paul ran a nice leg," Drayton said. "I guess we all did. You don't break the world record otherwise. But it was Bob who did the job."

In April tribute was paid to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the great warrior who once served as Hoover's Army Chief of staff.

On Sunday, Hoover will be buried in his native Iowa, in quiet and simple dignity.

Hoover died at 11:35 a.m. Tuesday at the age of 90. His gallant old heart gave out beneath the burden of a final illness that began Saturday with a massive internal hemorrhage.

He passed away peacefully and painlessly in a deep coma.

Born in obscurity, the first American president from west of the Mississippi was a mining engineer and a self-made millionaire when he turned to public service. It fell his lot to be in the White House at the onset of the Great Depression and the electorate turned him out in 1932 after only one term, politically discredited.

But with grace and vigor, Hoover in private life regained the esteem that circumstance had cost him. At his death he was a revered elder statesman, respected even by the bitterest of his old political foes.

Hoover was a Quaker. But it was at St. Bartholomew's that the funeral was held for his wife, the former Lou Henry, who died 20 years ago of a heart attack.

From 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. today and again on Thursday, the public was invited to pay its respects to Hoover, who at 90 years and two months lived longer than any President save John Adams, who died at the age of 90 years and 8 months.

At 4:30 p.m. Thursday there will be a brief memorial service at St. Bartholomew's, including the Episcopal prayers for the dead. President Johnson plans to attend.

By request of the family, there will be no choir accompaniment. Organ music will be played instead. Admittance will be by invitation only.

On Friday morning, Hoover's body will travel by train to Washington, there to lie in state in the Capitol rotunda. The President plans to be at Union Station for the arrival.

Some 300 to 400 cheering persons turned out for what originally had been scheduled as a relatively quiet, private meeting for campaign workers and turned into a public pep rally.

Goldwater remained on the topic of foreign policy in his speech later at a $100-a-plate dinner at nearby Pikeville. More than 1,000 paid for the dinner; and several hundred more stood at the rear of the armory.

The senator hit again and again at the administration's foreign policy, declaring that "even the Central Intelligence Agency reports that our prestige has dipped below the peril point."

In his prepared speech, Goldwater said Johnson's concept of the presidency "means surrounding himself with com-

ions like Bobby Baker, Billie Sol Estes and Matt McCloskey and other interesting men."

In delivering it, he wound up with "and Matt McCloskey," leaving out the last four words. But a number of people in the audience added, "and Walter Jenkins."

Nowhere in his text did Goldwater mention Jenkins, a Johnson aide who was asked to resign last week after it became public knowledge that he had been arrested twice on morals charges.

Johnson, in his television speech to the nation Sunday night, noted that "the men at the top (in Russia) today are the men he (Khrushchev) picked for leadership." And he said that "the new Soviet government has officially informed me through Ambassador Dobrynin that it plans no change in basic foreign policy."

"DEAR ABBY"

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE!

By Abigail Van Buren

Norfolk County Home of Correction & Jail, Dedham, Mass.

Dear Abby: I have never written a letter like this before, and I do so now hoping it will help other young people to get on the right track. I am 20, and come from what could be called an average middle-class family. I have been doing a lot of reading lately, including your column in the Boston Record-American. I recognize myself in so many of the letters other young people have written to you, such as, "My parents won't let me have a car," or, "My parents want to know where I am every minute," or, "My parents place too many restrictions on me."

Well, I had my own car at 16. I kept any hours I pleased, and I got what I wanted about 90 percent of the time. If my parents refused me anything, I either argued, or I talked until I got my own way. How wrong I was. I wish you would tell parents that they would do their children a tremendous favor if they learned how to say "NO" to them... and stuck to it.

A few months ago I would have laughed at this, but my outlook has changed.

I love and respect my parents, Abby. But I didn't become a spoiled, self-centered brat all by myself. I had plenty of help.

Sincerely,
R.J.E. IN CELL 43

Dear Abby: I am a college freshman and there is a young man I see every day that I would like to get to know better, but I don't know how to go about it. He is a foreigner, and hasn't Using an egg carton, Louise Kramer illustrated how to make a hat for a Barbie with clever results. How to make Indian moccasins was shown by Bonnie Smith. Louise Kramer voiced the closing prayer.

Mrs. Noyes is the former Mary Jean Sparks of Hope.

been in this country too long, but he looks like he would be very interesting. We are both in the same chemistry class. How do I strike up a conversation with him?

INTERESTED
Dear Interested: Ask him to light your Bunsen burner. It could start a low flame.

Dear Abby: I am writing in hopes that you can help this young couple who are on the verge of getting a divorce. They were married just after the boy graduated from high school. One month later their baby boy came. The following year the girl finished her senior year of high school. Her mother cared for her baby during school hours. Now the young husband wants "out." He says he doesn't love the girl and never did, and no one is going to make him stay married to her. He refused to see a minister or anyone for counseling. He went to a lawyer and is determined to get his freedom. The wife is heartbroken. She says she still loves him and will do anything to save her marriage. Can you help them, Abby?

BOGGED DOWN

Dear Bugged: NO ONE can help unless the parties involved want to be helped. The young wife can make it difficult for her husband to obtain the divorce, but she can't force him to live with her. Assuming she could "save" the marriage, a young husband who feels trapped and bitter would make a poor husband and a worse father.

Battle of the Books in This Election Year

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1964 presidential campaign may seem lackluster and less than enthralling so far, but it has touched off a parallel contest — call it "The Battle of the Books" — that is making history.

Seldom if ever, has an election generated so much writing, pro and con, about the candidates and the issues.

In circulation today are millions of copies of books, hard covers, soft covers, standard biographies, newly published examinations of "extremism," and "spoof" books made up of cartoons and photographs.

A representative of Publishers Weekly, trade journal of publishing, estimates that more than 50 books relating to the campaign are on the shelves. Said an executive of a New York publishing house, "In over 30 years in this business, I have never seen anything like it."

What's causing it?

There are almost as many answers to this question as there are books.

One is that high passions, pro and con, swirl around both President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater. Each has his ardent admirers and fervent detractors. They will have to go back to the 1930s, to Franklin D. Roosevelt and the jagged feelings about the New Deal, to find the equivalent of today — but a flood of books, tracts and pamphlets do not appear then.

Are the publications affecting the campaign?

On Oct. 8, the Democratic national chairman, John M. Bailey, urged the GOP to publicly repudiate what he called "hate" books attacking Johnson and the Democratic party.

Lee Edwards, assistant publicity director of the Republican National Committee, said the committee has no connection with the publication or distribution of such books as "None Dare Call It Treason," "A Choice Not an Echo," or "A Texan Looks at Lyndon."

"In fact," Edwards said, "we have actively discouraged their sale by Republican groups."

He said some local GOP and Goldwater groups have been distributing the books, usually as a fund-raising device.

On a recent opinion-sampling tour of the South and Southwest, this correspondent heard a good deal of talk, among those questioned, about "A Texan Looks at Lyndon." The book, by J. Evetts Haley of Canyon, Tex., is subtitled, "A Study in Illegitimate Power."

The frequently voiced comment was, "Well, if what that book says about Johnson isn't true, why doesn't he deny it, or sue, or something?"

Haley said in an interview that his latest figure on the sale of the book was around 7.3 million copies. "But that was weeks ago," he said. "It may be around eight million now."

Haley said he had researched the subject "over a period of many years." He wrote it in six months, he said, and the first copy came off the presses last June 15. He declined to identify the firm "up north" that printed the first copies.

He said he did not submit the manuscript to an established book-publishing house "because I felt sure they would want to emasculate it."

But, Haley said, "no group whatever, no party and no individual had anything whatever to do with the conception, financing, publication, or general distribution of the book."

A number of biographies of Johnson have appeared and another book is subtitled, "A Candid Look at the President's Policy Makers."

A publication bearing the President's own name is titled, "My Hope for America." It is organized into 13 chapters that deal with the presidency and the problems confronting the nation today, at home and abroad. Spelling out "My Hope," the book says:

"Reality rarely matches dream. But only dreams give nobility to propose."

"This is the star I hope to follow — which I know most of you have seen, and which I first glimpsed many years ago in the Texas night."

A book critical of Goldwater is subtitled "Extremist of the Right." It describes him as a "nuclear-tipped rocket," "intemperate," and a man with "a salesman's personality." It quotes him as saying, in Sacramento, Calif., last March 4:

"This extremist thing is not worthy of discussion at any responsible level, unless it's the left-wing extremists who are in government. I just can't for the life of me see how extremism — as it has been explained to me — can have any bearing on the issues in this or any other state. It's an issue for small minds."

Sam Brightman, deputy chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said this book is advertised in "The Democrat," the party's newspaper. The ads say that the book can be obtained through the national committee.

But Brightman said, "We're

Sparks the Royals to a Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arlen Bockhorn came off the bench during the first half Tuesday night to score 22 points and spark the Cincinnati Royals to a 121-113 victory over Los Angeles in the only National Basketball action.

The 6-foot-4 former Dayton standout, more or less a forgotten man on the Royals' star-studded squad, provided the impetus that enabled Cincinnati to fight off the stubborn Lakers.

As usual, Oscar Robertson with 33 points led the scoring. Burly Wayne Embury pulled down 23 rebounds. Jerry West, Elgin Baylor, and Dick Barnett with 26, 24 and 21 points, respectively, were the Lakers leaders.

It was Cincinnati's second victory in three games. Los Angeles is even at 1-1.

Tonight's schedule finds Los Angeles at Baltimore and San Francisco at Detroit.

The Royals took command after a see-saw first half and pulled away from the Lakers late in the third quarter before a Cincinnati crowd of 4,275. The Royals' biggest margin was 12 points with 1½ minutes left.

just a transmission agency."

He said local and state committees are using other books about Goldwater for fund-raising purposes.

Several biographies claim to show, in statements attributed to the senator, what he has said on a wide range of issues. Sources and dates are given each statement.

Along with the straight studies of "extremism," a comic "nonbook," as the authors call it, kids extremists on both the right and left. Example, in a list of definitions:

"Wall-eyed fanatic — An East Berliner who wants to get into West Berlin."

There were 10 colleges in the American colonies by 1770.

Told to Get Rid of Stickers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The superintendent of the Arkansas Schools for the Blind and Deaf has told employees to take bumper stickers and other campaign materials from their cars while the cars are on school grounds.

Roy G. Parks, superintendent, sent notices to all employees last week which said the board "has no desire to dictate, instruct nor influence any employees of the School regarding the manner he or she votes," but it did not want campaign materials at the school.

Dr. Guy Smith, board chairman, said there were Goldwater, Johnson, Fausb and Rockefeller stickers "so we just decided to just stop it all."

Two Youths Are Reported Missing

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) - Two third-grade boys who were last seen at 4 p.m. Thursday were still missing today.

"We have received phone calls from all over the Greater Cincinnati area," Police Chief James Finnan of suburban Fairfax said after a rainstorm and darkness put an end to a massive search of an open field between Fairfax and the Little Miami River late Sunday.

The chief said he had alerted law enforcement officers in the eastern United States to look out for Johnny Hundley and Jimmy McQuarry, both 9. There have been reports the Hundley boy told other children he planned to run away from home.

The kidnaper could be lying; but Craig was oddly inclined to believe him.

"As soon as the lights were turned off in the building, I went about my business elsewhere, as planned. A rather clean bit of business, you might say, compared with your savelittle back-stabber."

The pot was calling the kettle black. It might be a symptom of schizophrenic projection to this man, it was invariably another person who was in the wrong, never himself—and in turn it might be a clue to his identity.

"Of course you've no idea who pulled this nasty little trick on you."

Lew spoke acridly. "Do you think we'd be here bare-handed if we knew? If we had half a suspicion, we'd beat it out of him."

"Well, well. A man who thinks he can solve his problems with his fists. Obviously, you'd do better to use your head better than you do. And your mouth less."

Low put in abruptly, "That money was stolen from you, actually, not from us. After paying you, we'd never see it again."

A cynical chuckle came through the glare. "Silly idea. We still have the merchandise. We don't accept checks and we don't extend credit. We sell for cash only, and your pockets are hanging out. The problem is quite simple, really. Either you find the missing money or you raise it all over again."

Craig had expected this. He had an answer ready, but Lew broke in.

"That's impossible. They've already gone their hmit—traded their cars, sold stocks and bonds and a boat, borrowed—"

Craig swallowed a groan. Lew's built-in hostility actually made him more unreasonable than the snatcher. At least the snatcher seemed willing to listen to Craig.

"It's not as bad as all that," Craig hoped he had conveyed a warning to Lew to keep quiet. "In New York a few days ago I closed a new contract, a fat one. A check in five figures is in the mail right now. It's possible our general manager can add to it, draw still more out of the company's reserve. It will be risky—it may wreck Sandor's business—"

"What a dreadful shame that the man laughed softly, a sign

The voice had lost its affected urbanity; the arrogance in it had turned harsh.

"I was prepared to wind up our little transaction tonight, here and now. You've seen Sandor. We were ready to leave him with you, but as the matter stands, he'll have to go on being our guest. I would very much regret regret having to kill Sandor. After all, the dead are so very oblivious. He'd be much too far past suffering."

Those last words impressed themselves on Craig's memory. They were cryptic but significant.

"You'll either recover the stolen money, as I've said, or raise more, to your absolute limit. I won't hang a deadline on you, but neither will I allow you very much more time—a week at the most. When you're ready to pay up, show us that by leaving all the lights in your building burning all night. You'll hear from us shortly afterward."

The man laughed softly, a sign

"Phew! What a day . . . I rescued three damsels, four maidens and some skinny dame from Camelot!"

Stray Plane Crew Back for AF Duty

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Air Force has cleared for further flying duty the three officers whose reconnaissance plane strayed over Communist East Germany last March and was shot down by a Soviet jet, it was disclosed today.

A flying evaluation board blamed the RB66's border crossing on failure of the plane's compass and recommended that the crewmen be "kept on flying status," the Air Force told The Associated Press.

Air Force headquarters approved the board's recommendations. A spokesman said that closes the case.

After the plane was downed on March 10, the Russians and East Germans charged that investigation of the wreckage "established beyond a doubt" that it was on a spy mission.

The United States said the plane had wandered into Communist air space by mistake. The Air Force Command ordered widening of an upper zone along the East-West boundary in Germany and Air Force planes flying in the area were directed to be under "positive radio control" at all times.

The board held that a major cause of the incident "was the failure of electronic navigational equipment on board the RB66 plane."

"The board found that weather conditions which obscured the ground to the crew contributed to the navigational error," the Air Force said.

Texas, Notre Dame and Tide Picked to Win

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
TOKYO (AP) — Can you think of a better spot than the Japanese capital to use the tea-leaf method of picking the weekend's college football games? The tea here is green. So is any football forecaster who is three weeks and 6,000 miles away from the scene of action.

Just how green can be seen from last week's choices, which showed only 36 correct picks in 52 decisions for a .692 average. That made the season's figures 176-79 for .690.

Here are the next winners: Alabama over Florida: Everybody knew that Alabama had a fine quarterback in Joe Namath but the Crimson Tide's line has been a surprise. A battle of ranking powers.

Notre Dame over Stanford: Notre Dame's subway alumni, even those in Tokyo, are chanting "It's like old times." John Huarte blends power with passing while guiding the Irish. Before the start of the season, Wisconsin was rated a Big Ten title darkhorse. The Badgers will be darker by nightfall Saturday — black and blue, that is.

Southern California over California: The Trojans squeak through. Illinois over UCLA: The Californians spilled by Notre Dame last week, get a second straight look at Midwest power. The Illinois defense will decide.

Texas over Rice: The Longhorns start another winning streak with Marvin Kristynik the hero.

Syracuse over Oregon State: How did the New Yorkers ever lose their opener to Boston College. Jim Nance and Floyd Little give the Orange a rugged one-two punch.

Nebraska over Colorado: No matter who is quarterbacking the Huskers, the team rolls on and on.

Georgia Tech over Tulane: Perhaps the Tech Engineers should have stayed in the Southeastern Conference a year longer and reigned as champions. Navy over Pittsburgh: A close one, with Roger Staubach giving the Middies a slight edge.

State Named 4th Spot in Grid Rating

ABILENE (AP) — State College of Iowa scored a 21-14 victory over Morrisville and moved into the No. 1 spot in contending for the Pecan Bowl Tuesday. The team was runner-up last week.

This game will be played here Dec. 12 to determine the NCAA Mid-West College Division regional football championship.

Prairie View, last week's leader, remained undefeated with a 39-13 victory over Wiley, but dropped to No. 2 anyway.

Louisiana Tech. No. 5 last week, moved to the third spot after North Dakota State and Lamar Tech tasted their first defeats of the season. Louisiana Tech beat Arlington State 19-7. The weekly Pecan Bowl poll will not pick the two teams that will play in the game. That will be left to the NCAA committee headed by Francis E. Smiley Jr. of Colorado Mines.

The rankings (season records in parentheses):

1. State College of Iowa (5-1)
2. Prairie View (5-0)
3. Louisiana Tech (5-0)

Arizona Man Leads in Fishing Contest

BULL SHOALS, Ark. (AP) — Only seven competitors caught fish Tuesday in the World Series of Sport Fish on Lake Bull Shoals.

Al Ellis of Arizona took the lead in the state champions division with 144 points. Eight state champions failed to catch a fish during the first day of preliminaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lillot of Hot Springs and Don Latta of Carthage, Mo., were the challengers who caught fish. Challengers pay their own way to the series.

Latta pulled in a 6 pound, 4 ounce bass, largest fish taken in the series so far this year. He had 772 points.

Bobcats Take Over Top Place in District

The Hope Bobcats have now taken over sole possession of first place in the Div. 4AA football standings. After twenty conference games in the league the Bobcats are the last undefeated team with a current 4-0 mark.

The Warren Lumberjacks were the latest to fall from the unbeaten as the Malvern Leopards won a come from behind 14-6 contest this past week. The defeat for Warren was their first loss in 30 games. In other results this past week Hope found Fairview surprisingly tough and did not score until the fourth period to take a 13-0 victory. Camden continued to keep its hopes alive with a 19-7 win over Crossett. Smackover had little trouble in downing Arkadelphia 39-6.

In non-conference action Magnolia handed the Haynesville, La., team its first defeat of the season 7-6.

Game of the Week in Div 4 AA this week will be Warren at Camden. The Lumberjacks must win to set the stage for their meeting with Hope on Nov. 6th.

Camden must win to stay in the running. Other action sends Hope to Magnolia, and Arkadelphia to Malvern in loop contests. Non-league games send Fairview to Bearden; Crossett host to Pine Bluff; and Smackover goes to Hot Springs.

Malvern's Phil Clem continues to hold individual scoring leadership as he moved his total to 49 points and eight TDs and one extra point. Jerry Burnett of Hope remains in second with 39 points, and David McMurry of Warren in third with 36 points.

Malvern leads in total offense with 1,492 yards. Camden is second with 1,482 and Warren third with 1,440. Camden leads in defense against rushing and Warren is second. Fairview leads in net yards passing with 431 yards and Camden is second with 431. Malvern leads in total points scored with 113. Hope leads only in all important win-loss record department.

Women in Olympics Go Modern

By DAVE BERONIO

TOKYO (AP) — "Now," said the veteran American Olympic athlete with the more practiced eye for such matters, "is when we begin to see whether they're really women — or just soft boys."

Heavy, flappy sweat clothing — the usual uniform for women athletes in training for the Games specialties — is giving way more each day to fashionable, lady-like dresses, sweaters and skirts combinations, stretch pants — and shorts.

The shortest of shorts are being worn by British girls. And the tightest sweaters appear to be worn by the women of Poland.

The switch in attire generally comes the day after the girl's appearance in her event. After that, it's stand back, fellows, dolly's home again.

Young ladies who would barely give boys the time of day in Olympic Village while concealing their training now find there's more to Tokyo and the Games than their tightly controlled women's quarters.

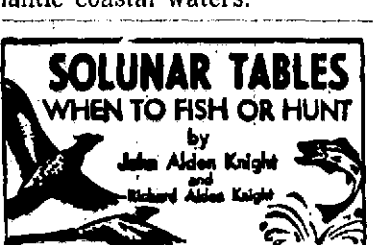

"Why not relax," said a young lady athlete from France, smelling oh-so-very Parisienne. "I have trained almost four years for this. And now I'm through trying to be an athlete. Now I want to be a woman."

It was obvious from the group of young men around her — toggled in training gear from three different countries, none of which was France — that she wasn't going to have to try very hard.

Women athletes of Soviet bloc nations have not gone in for the short shorts. But they seem to be wearing their younger sisters' sweaters and shirts.

The American girls have toed the line pretty well, maintaining dress procedures laid down by Brenda de Morelos, the former Brenda Helser, U.S. Olympic swimming great.

Braves Will Decide on Moving Team

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves' board of directors meets today to decide whether to shift its National League baseball franchise to Atlanta.

Speculation that the board will vote to move the club was given impetus Tuesday when league President Warren Giles announced that a league meeting will be held in New York Thursday "to further discuss the Milwaukee-Atlanta situation and take action thereon."

If a franchise move is decided upon by the Braves, they will need six votes for approval from the nine other National League clubs.

It's anybody's guess what action the league will take if the Braves seek approval for a franchise shift. In the past, the National League has quickly approved requests which included the move of the same Braves from Boston to Milwaukee, the Dodgers from Brooklyn to Los Angeles and the Giants from New York to San Francisco.

The American League has denied shifts in the past. Bill Veeck was blocked in efforts to move the Browns out of St. Louis and recently Charles O. Finley was stopped in an attempt to pull out of Kansas City.

Atlanta is so positive it will get a major league team that an $18 million civic stadium has been constructed.

The big factor in a move is broadcasting rights. In Milwaukee, the Braves are cut off to the south by Chicago, to the east by Detroit and to the northwest by Minnesota.

Atlanta's geographic situation opens the entire southeast to radio and television rights, which could run into the millions in revenue.

Yankees Pick Keane as New Field Manager

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In hiring Johnny Keane as manager the proud New York Yankees have gone outside their own family and turned to a seasoned pilot in the tradition of Joe McCarthy and Casey Stengel.

The new Yankee manager, a veteran of 35 years of baseball warfare, has all the quiet but firm discipline of McCarthy and the patience and daring of Stengel.

Like McCarthy and Stengel, Keane enjoyed many years of success in the minors before getting an opportunity to manage in the big leagues. Again, like McCarthy and Stengel, Keane received his major league baptism elsewhere before being tabbed by the perennial American League champions.

In agreeing to a one-year term Tuesday as Yankee manager, the 52-year-old Texan succeeded Yogi Berra, who had taken over the Yankee leadership last year without any previous managerial experience.

This lack of experience, together with the fact that he was taking over the reins of a team on which he had been one of the boys, proved to be Berra's undoing.

General manager Ralph Houk, who engineered both moves, admitted this in a candid discussion following a giant press conference replete with newsreel cameras, television lights and a battery of microphones.

"We really thought Yogi would make a good manager," Houk said. "Lots of people thought it was purely for public relation purposes. That was part of it, naturally. But we figured having been in baseball so long, being liked by everyone and knowing all the players would help him."

"Looking back now, I can see where we were wrong. I believe no that managing a team on which he played was a handicap to him. It made things a lot tougher for him. I honestly think Yogi is better suited in his present job (scouting). He has not been hurt financially. The Yankees have a war msot in their hearts for him and we hope he will be with us for a long time."

Houk said he had several other candidates in mind to succeed Berra but decided on Keane the minute he learned John was available.

Keane was manager at Omaha when Houk directed the Denver team in 1955-56-57. Each won a league title. Houk came up to the Yankees as a coach in 1958, and was promoted to manager in 1961. Keane advanced to the Cardinals as a coach in 1959 and succeeded Solly Hemus as manager in July of 1961.

Although not as forceful as Houk, Keane has proved more than once that he can be tough when the occasion demands. Like McCarthy, he is quiet, serious and determined to have things done his way with little fanfare or showmanship.

"I can be tough if needed," he said. "Ball players have a right to do things to relax. But if they get out of line, I never found one who wouldn't agree that a little change might be in order."

Keane said he had been assured by Houk that he would be in complete charge, would be given a free hand in appointing his coaches and would be consulted in all trades.

"That's correct," confirmed Houk.

U. S. Relay Team Posts a New Record

By TED SMITS

Associated Press Sports Editor
TOKYO (AP) — Abebe Bikila, a reed-slim sergeant in Haile Selassie's palace guard, loped in with the fastest time ever recorded in the marathon and stole the thunderous applause of one-half million Japanese from two United States world record-breaking relay teams in the Olympic Games today.

Just as Germany's decathlon winner Willi Holdorf diverted attention from the team struggle between the United States and Russia Tuesday, so did the one-time barefoot runner from Ethiopia capture the imagination of the marathon-mad Japanese as he became the first man ever to win the classic Olympic event twice.

The dark-skinned athlete was the surprise of the Rome Olympics when he charged barefoot off the Apian way and won in 1960. But this time, wearing shoes, he was among the favorites as the 68 runners set out on the flat course that started and ended before 80,000 people in the Olympic Stadium.

Leading almost all the way, he rambled along behind a wedge of white-helmeted motorcycle police through a throng estimated at 500,000 that lined the 26 mile, 385 yard course winding through industrial and residential sections near the site of the Games.

He came in with a time of 2 hours, 12 minutes, 11.2 seconds, the fastest man has ever covered the distance.

Earlier, gold medal winners Bob Hayes and Henry Carr anchored the United States to expected triumphs in the men's 400 and 1,600-meter relays, both in world record time.

But Peter Snell, the master middle distance man from New Zealand, dashed American hopes in the 1,500 meters, and a world-record breaking team from Poland upset the heavily favored U.S. women's 400 meter relay team on the final day of track and field competition in these 18th modern Olympics.

The men's relay victories boosted the United States' gold medal total to 34, matching the

Broyles Says Rating Doesn't Matter

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — "It really doesn't make much difference what your rating is now," Coach Frank Broyles said Tuesday. "It's the end of the season that counts."

He commented on the Arkansas Razorbacks' No. 4 ranking in The Associated Press college football poll.

Broyles said the team, especially the defensive squad, is still bruised some from the 14-13 victory over Texas, which was ranked No. 1.

Tuesday's practice was difficult for some players because of soreness, he said.

Wichita, the next Razorback foe, has a defense that gave the Porks "a bit of a problem" during a 90-minute workout.

"It looks like they have from one to three linebackers rushing in on every play," Broyles said.

number of triumphs in Rome. The men won 12 track gold medals compared with only nine in 1960.

America also got some medals from its sailors and boxers and increased its leading total to 82. Russia, closing fast and with more of its strong events yet to come, now has 59, including 17 gold.

Hayes, the burly Floridian who solidified his claim to the tag world's fastest human with a gold medal in the 100-meter dash, took the baton some three yards behind on the final leg of the 400 relay and won by two yards in world record time of 39 seconds flat.

Paul Drayton of Cleveland was the lead-off man on the team that broke the record of 39.1 and reclaimed the title the United States lost on an illegal baton pass in 1960.

And Carr, the 200-meter gold medal winner from Detroit, ran the last leg on the 1,600-meter squad that established a world record 3:00.7 and beat Great Britain's team to the wire by some five yards.

The rest of the team was composed of Olan Cassell of Nutley, N.J., Ullis Williams of Compton, Calif., 30-year-old Mike Larabee, the 400-meter winner from Fillmore, Calif., Gerry Ashworth of Haverhill, Mass., and Dick Stebbins of Los Angeles.
